Sir Joshua Reynolds, P.R.A., the great portrait and subject painter, was born at Plympton Earls, near Plymouth, on 16th July, 1723. After various Continental visits, he finally settled in London in 1752 and quickly became the most popular portrait painter of the day. His authentic works are estimated to number between two and three thousand. He died on 23rd February, 1792.

Dear Mrs Appleton,
I have not forgotten
you but I am preparing for company and I am going to Ottawa
in about three weeks,
but I must see you
before then to tell you all the news. I will promise a certain day but will surprise you.
